Nationwide College Fair Scheduled for Saturday

Plans are under way for the College Fair, a day-long program February 24 during which the alumni groups from more than sixty colleges throughout the nation will discuss College education opportunities with students of junior college, high school and junior high school age. Sacramento State College will host the first annual affair.

The three phase program is designed to acquaint students and parents with college facilities, arouse interest in students attending college and parents sending them to college and familiarize potential college students with the requirements and facilities of the various college campuses throughout the country.

College Fair is being sponsored by the Sacramento Area Council of College Alumni, an association of college and university alumni which was formed early in 1961. SSC is providing the facilities to hold the event.

Student fraternal groups under the direction of Dennis Beall, student body vice president, will host tours of the campus, including the library, science laboratories, music and drama, and the residence halls. Alumni members representing a variety of private and public colleges and universities across the country will have tables and booths established in the new SSC Gymnasium and will provide consultation and printed materials describing their representative colleges.

Orientation films from various colleges and the Armstrong Circle Theater film, "The College Panic," will be shown continuously throughout the day.

Co-chairmen of the event are Earl Warren, Jr., and Mrs. Louis Duncan.

Exhibit chairmen coordinating various groups include Robert Witter, California schools; Richard Desmond, Catholic schools; Hal Dill, Western schools; Mrs. Walter Fisher, Jr., Midwestern schools; and Charles Cusack, Eastern schools.

Expert on China's Politics Speaks Friday

The Academic Enrichment Committee upon referral of the Sacramento Fabian Society, will present Ernest Nash, expert on China's politics, in a special program at 7 p.m. in the Ribera Room Friday.

Born in China, and living for 50 years in the country, Nash held a government post for 25 years in the municipal council of Shanghai.

Because his mother was the first English child to be born in Formosa, he has also maintained an active interest in its politics.

Nash states, "On no subject of importance has there been such terrible miseducation as on the subject of China."

Large Attendance Expected At Games

Students planning to attend the Cal-Aggie and University of Nevada basketball games are urged to arrive prior to 7 p.m., according to John Krier, student association manager.

The games, to be held tonight and Friday, are expected to be sell outs. Spectators will be seated on a first come first serve basis in the 3200 capacity Gymnasium.

Last year at the SSC-Nevada game, it was necessary to turn away several hundred students because of lack of seating space.

Student Council . . .

Bookstore Rates Explained

Recommendations for an extensive addition to the Student Activities building were submitted to the Hornet Foundation board of directors yesterday by Stanley Pretzer, college business manager.

Pretzer, secretary-treasurer of the Foundation, announced at the Student Council meeting Wednesday his intention to request that an architect be employed to draw up plans for expansion of the Student Lounge, Hornet Bookstore and office facilities. The Foundation would plan to use its cash reserve augmented by a bank loan and financial assistance from the ASSSC to make up approximately $200,000 for construction.

Objectives Outlined

Thomas Gunn, Foundation business manager, and Pretzer attended the Council meeting to outline the objectives and procedures of the nonprofit corporation which operates the cafeteria and bookstore. Policy is formulated by a seven member board composed of four faculty or staff and three students.

Gunn stated that achievements of the Foundation include operation of the food services, public relations for the college, construction of the Activities building and payment of the Student Association business manager's salary for one year before the ASSSC could afford it. Reserves of the corporation, which employs about 100 people, are used to benefit Sacramento State College by financing "things of a perm-

ELECTION NOTICE

Nancy Gilson, coordinator of elections, is expected to ask the ASSSC Board of Directors Wednesday to suspend the election code and allow students to petition to run for Student Council vacancies.

If Council approves, no division meetings will be held prior to election of Business Administration and Engineering representatives on March 7.

Valley History Authored by Dr. McGowan

By Nancy David

Dr. Joseph A. McGowan found students' master's theses and research papers to be valuable sources for his recently published work, History of the Sacramento Valley.

Dr. Joseph A. McGowan

McGowan, professor and head of the department of history, used considerable material from student papers for the three-volume history with students receiving full credit in the source lists of the book.

Applauds Students

"I couldn't have done as good a job without the students who had done papers," McGowan commented. "The history department of Sacramento State," he added, "is contributing to the culture of the area both through master's theses and research papers and is the only institution that is doing this."

His book, published early in January by Lewis Historical Publishing Co., contains nearly 1000 pages and covers the history of the valley from 1798 to 1960, with the period since 1887 occupying over half of his work.

Economic Emphasis

"Emphasis," McGowan said, "is on the economic aspect, but politics are touched on where they relate to economics. A good portion deals with agriculture and there is also a section on fish and game." The latter, according to McGowan, deals with material never before published.

The history's third volume includes family and personal records of the people who

Jazz Concert Features Gold Coast Singers

The Gold Coast singers, currently at San Francisco's Purple Onion, will be featured performers in Blue Key's Jazz concert March 8.

Gold Coasters Ed Rush and George Cromarty, singers in fifteen different languages, will stage a one-hour act ranging from contemporary folk ballads to songs of political satire.

Carrying the remainder of the three-hour show will be a local group, the Concert Jazz Quintet. The CJQ, which plays every Sunday at JayRob, consists of Stan Lunetta on drums; Wayne Johnson, saxaphone; Bob Fylling, on piano; Brian Bredberg, trumpet; and Dick Maloof, bass.

Quintet members have separately worked with name bands. Bredberg has been with Stan Kenton, Nelson Riddle and June Christy. Maloof, who plays five instruments, was connected with the Carmen Cavallero orchestra; Johnson, with the All-Army recording band; and Lunetta, with the Music Circus for six years. The group's pianist, Fylling, recently returned from a German tour with a small band.

Expecting a large turnout, concert chairman Wardell Connerly said of the forthcoming program, "I think a thing like this is very important to our campus and its students."

The show will take place in the men's gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tickets will be on sale in the Student Association office beginning Thursday. Prices are $1 with student body card and $1.50 without.

DEADLINE TOLD

Tomorrow is the last day to officially add a course. Students not entered upon IBM records are not considered enrolled in the course. Materials and information for adding courses can be picked up at the Registrar's window between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

College Graduate Demand Increases

Senior Registration

Demand for college graduates on a national basis has increased 25 per cent over last year, according to Robert Dalziell, placement supervisor.

Graduating seniors and graduate students are urged to register with the Placement Office to take advantage of opportunities which will be available during the spring semester. Dalziell also reports a jump in salaries of 15 per cent over the 1960-61 average.

He states, however, that "although it is a 'boom year' for the graduating senior, he must still prove himself to the prospective employer."

PT&T Career Day

Two seminars, individual consultation, and displays are planned for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company career day Thursday on campus.

Of special interest to engineering and business administration majors, the seminars are scheduled for 1 and 2 p.m. in 111 Physics building.

Two SSC graduates will be available to answer questions between 10 and 1 a.m., and displays on view from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. will feature Project Mercury and zone refining.

anent nature." Gross sales for 1960-61 were $803,000 with a net profit of $68,000 realized from the food service and bookstore.

Inquiries Answered

In answer to inquiries made by students attending the meeting, the Foundation representatives stated that the mark-up on books sold in the Hornet Bookstore is generally 25 per cent and 40 per cent on some paperback editions. On other items a 50 per cent mark-up is normal.

They said that the books are purchased from the publisher at a discount and sold at the list price recommended by the company. Any prices on labels or stickers, according to Pretzer, are determined by the printer and not the store management. While it is legally possible to lower prices, in his opinion "It would not be good business to do so."

Program Set

John Platania, chairman of the proposed International High School Relations League, presented an agenda for the program, tentatively set for April 16, to the ASSSC Board of Directors for their approval. His request for an allocation of $330 for expenses was tabled and will be reconsidered at a later meeting.

On the conference committee are Allan Darrah, Alton Cameron, Mike Cullivan and Wardell Connerly, ASSSC president. Also assisting with plans are Amy Lollis and Judy Simons.

Governor Edmund G. Brown is the suggested keynote speaker, followed by a series of talks by Dr. John C. Livingston, associate professor of social science, on 'Disarmament; Dr. Marcus Tool, associate professor of economics, on International Economics; Dr. Mahmut Lacin, associate professor of political science, on the United Nations; and Dr. Robert Thompson, associate professor of government, Bi-Polarity in International Politics.

Subjects Named

Subjects for seminar discussion groups following the speeches are Red China, The Emerging African Nation and South American Revolt. Authorities on these topics will be Dr. Edward Beechert, assistant professor of social sciences; Dr. Leonard Cain, associate professor of sociology; and Dr. Lyman A. Glenny, professor of government.

Students invited to attend the League will be juniors and seniors in 19 high schools in this area, selected by their faculty members on scholastic performance, willingness to investigate and manipulate ideas through research and discussion and interest in current affairs. Funds asked for by Platania would include costs for a formal breakfast, informal luncheon, printing and mailing.

Appointments made at Wednesday's meeting were Bob McHugh as Rally committee chairman; Dave Mitchell, social science representative, bylaws revision chairman; Larry Augusta, Hornet Holiday chairman; Gretchen Michael, coordinator of world affairs; George Miller, Attorney General; and Darryl Enos, associate justice. Dr. C. Edson Caldwell, professor of education, was recommended and approved as the BOD faculty representative.

Connerly suggested that the annual World University Service Fund Drive be held in the spring, due to cancellation of the drive planned last semester.

Potential Grads Must File Petitions

Today is the last day for seniors expecting to graduate in June 1962 to file for graduation. According to Richard Warren, registrar, about 600 applications have been received so far.

Potential June candidates must submit completed and signed graduation evaluation summaries to the Graduation and Credentials Section by March 23.

INTERVIEWING ON MARCH 2

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Contemporary Dancer . . . .

Houghton Recalls Cunningham was Classmate

Dr. Donald E. Houghton, chairman of the convocation planning committee and a former classmate of Merce Cunningham, initiated action to bring the dancer here for the special program tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the Little Theater.

He recalls Cunningham first as a high school student "when he did a Russian dance for a high school assembly back in 1933 or 1934. Merce looked grand in the typical white silk blouse, black full pantaloons, and boots. As you might suspect, there were a few titters, for I'm certain that many Centralia High School students had never before seen a boy dance.

"Merce left Centralia when he graduated and I lost touch with him. I knew his brother Jack at the University of Washington, but Jack was always a little vague as to what his brother was up to in New York.

"After the war, however, pictures of Merce began to appear in magazines like Life and Time and every book on modern dance contained some reference to him. It was clear that the hometown boy made the grade in the big town.

"I next saw Merce after the war when I was attending Columbia. He had been dancing with Martha Graham and was now on his own. We met for dinner in Greenwich Village, where he still lives. When I got off the subway from uptown and saw Merce in loafers, green corduroy jacket, and orange tie, I must say I felt real square. Anyway, we had a good dinner at the Jumble Shop, one of Thomas Wolfe's old hangouts. At the time the thought crossed my mind that the citizens of Centralia understood Merce and what he lived for about as well as the citizens of Asheville understood Thomas Wolfe.

"Last year Dance Magazine presented a special award to Merce, Maria Tallchief, and Igor Moiseyev for their contributions to the art of dancing. Time calls Merce the most consistently daring experimenter in modern dance today. He frequently dances to music which he admits has no connection with the dance and often dances in a sweater designed by his producer and knitted by himself. It will be good to see Merce again, and it should be quite a show."

Merce Cunningham

Cunningham's appearance is sponsored by the convocation committee in conjunction with Academic Enrichment Committee. His company includes four other dancers and two accompanists, John Cage and David Tudor. Classes will not be dismissed for this program.

McGowan Authors Valley History

subscribed to the book. This information, McGowan explained, was gathered by the publishing company, which specializes in geneology.

Lewis company asked McGowan to write the book in 1958, and he spent nearly three years in researching and writing it. It was to have been completed in two years, but even with a six month's sabbatical leave in the spring of 1960, he required nine extra months before the final chapter was turned in.

100,000 Words Deleted

Much of this extra time was spent in editing, for McGowan found his first draft was 100,000 words longer then the 300,000 word limit set by the publisher.

Most of the research on the book was done in the California State Library, but McGowan also found material in many other libraries throughout the state. An index to old Marysville papers, provided by Thomas Gianella of Marysville, also proved a valuable source of information.

McGowan, who has been a member of the college faculty since 1949, received his MA and PhD from the University of California at Berkeley.

Hornets Trample 'Jacks 71-47; Hold FWC Lead

Downtrodden Humboldt State continued a losing streak that has now reached 20 games Friday night as Sacramento State College trounced the visiting Lumberjacks 71-47 in a Far Western Conference clash.

The Hornets of Ev Shelton are now 8-2 in FWC play and have two games remaining in conference play. Humboldt has an 0-10 slate in conference play and is 0-18 this season. They also lost their final two games last season, thus the losing streak of 20.

Four starters scored in double figures for the Sacramentans. Ron Rohrer headed the scorers as he notched 17 points while Bill Whitaker was busy pumping in 15 tallies. Reliable Bill Baker contributed 14 to the cause and Les Kuhnz was the other double-figure man as he dropped in 12.

Tom Pugliese scored five points and sparked the team with his ball handling. Howard Thomas, Bob McCoy, Paul Smith and Jim Greene each scored two points to wind up the scoring for the Hornets.

High scorers for Humboldt were Bob Halvorsen and Jerry Buda. Each man solved the SSC defense for 11 points. Joe Taylor added nine to the Lumberjack score.

The story of the battle might well be the rebounding. The Hornets completely controlled the boards as they amassed 51 rebounds against only 26 for Humboldt. Whitaker and Rohrer each had a total of 18 rebounds. Bill Baker also proved a pillar of strength on the boards as he grabbed 15 stray shots.

Drew Roberts and Taylor were the top rebounders for the visitors from the North. Roberts pulled down eight and Taylor controlled seven.

Ironically, Humboldt scored first and led 2-0. Three times early in the contest, the battle was deadlocked. With the score 6-6, the Hornets took an 8-6 lead and were never topped, or stopped, the remainder of the evening.

Working with the 8-6 lead, SSC got hot and rolled up a big 37-19 half-time lead. The second half, the Hornets coasted and were never in danger of losing their lead.

Officials whistles were a rather inactive piece of equipment as the referees called only 18 fouls all evening. SSC was caught fouling 13 times while Humboldt was whistled down on five occurences.

Percentage-wise, Humboldt outshot the SSC crew from the floor. The 'Jacks made 45 per cent of their shots compared to 42 per cent for the Hornets. Sacramento was 33 for 79 from the floor while Humboldt hit on 18 shots in 40 attempts.

In a preliminary game, Tau Kappa Epsilon, intramural fraternity league champions, was defeated by the Overlanders, intramural independent league champions, 46-44 in the intramural championship game.

Gymnasts Lose To Bears 76-52 In Dual Meet

The powerful University of California gymnasts swept to their 29th straight dual meet victory Saturday night with a 76-52 win over the Hornets of Sacramento State College.

The Bears won top honors in six events and tied for first in one. Bill Borden was the top scorer for UC, winning first in tumbling and in the horizontal bar, tieing for the top spot in free exercise and placing second in the parallel bars.

Earl Hobbs was the only first place winner for the Hornets, winning his specialty, the parallel bars event. Hobbs placed a close second in horizontal bar, fourth in the still rings and fifth in the rope climb.

SSC's Curt Rebhan tied Borden for the top honors in free exercise and placed third on the horizontal bar. Jerry Personius captured two seconds, in the trampoline and tumbling, and fourth place in free exercise.

Paul Davis of the Bears, who recently tied the world's record in the rope climb with a time of 2.8 seconds, failed to come near this mark, winning the event with a climb of 3.1 seconds. Davis led his teammates in a sweep of the top three places in this event. UC also swept the first three places on the still rings.

The Hornets' next home meet will be March 3, when they entertain the San Jose State College Spartans.

Cal Frosh Down SSC Swimmers

Sacramento State College's first swimming team was turned under in its initial appearance by the University of California's freshman team in a meet held last Thursday at Berkeley. The final tally showed the Bears on top by a score of 62-33.

Outstanding performances of the day for the Hornets were turned in by Bill McGregor, who took a first place in the 100 yard freestyle, and Steven Sipes, who captured another first in the 100 yard breaststroke event.

SSC Meets Cal Aggies In Crucial Contest Tonight

Sacramento State College, leading the Far Western Conference with an 8-2 mark, will entertain the California Aggies from Davis tonight in the Men's Gymnasium.

The Hornet cagers must win their final two contests in order to give Coach Ev Shelton's crew an outright title. Friday night the Jack Spencer coached University of Nevada quintet will invade the Hornets lair.

SSC has a score to settle with the Wolfpack because it was the blue and silver clad Wolves who upset the Hornets hopes of an unbeaten FWC record with a 59-50 upset of the Sacramentans. If the Reno quint has any hopes of sharing the crown, it must defeat SSC and Cal Aggies on consecutive evenings.

Coach Jim Sells' Aggie squad gave the Hornets a good tussle in Davis before bowing 60-57. In this contest Captain Les Kuhnz paced the Hornets with 24 tallies while Aggie sharpshooter Ray Crawford was held to 21.

Starting for the Aggies will be Crawford and John Dean at guards, Harry Bergtholdt, 6-5 center; with Tim Indart and Tim Patterson at forwards. This is the best season that the Aggies have enjoyed since Sells' assumed the coaching reigns at Davis.

Coach Ev Shelton will have his usual starters in Tom Pugliese and Kuhnz at guards, Bill Baker and Ron Rohrer at forwards with Bill Whitaker at center.

The winner of the Far Western Conference will be eligible for competing in the NCAA small college regional tournament in Santa Barbara after completing the FWC campaign.

The Hornets next appearance will be on March 1 when they travel to Stockton to take on the University of Pacific's tank team.
